MBOI-4-5-MBS-014	Item - Unsure either Honduran Minister Alvarez or UNHCR Hasselman. Honduras, ca. 1985
MBOI-4-5-MBS-015	Item - New US air base at Palmero. A large base adequate for regional coverage, e.g. Contra war in Nicaragua. Honduras, ca. 1985
MBOI-4-5-MBS-016	Item - Dan Heap NDP MP listening to a Salvadoran refugee living clandestinely in Tegucigalpa. In all missions efforts were made to engage mission members indirect contact with refugees as well as Honduran government and army officials as well as aid workers, journalists and human rights advocates in Honduras. Honduras, ca. 1985
MBOI-4-5-MBS-017	Item - Dutch Nurse - she was quite young and the only health worker in El Tesoro, a camp which was subject to violence from both Guatemalan and Honduran troops. El Tesoro, Honduras, ca. 1985
MBOI-4-5-MBS-018	Item - Lunch in Tegucigalpa-Warren Allmand Liberal MP, Joe Gunn, Interpreter (Canadian with Catholic Bishops), John and Mary Contier-Caritas Mexico which provided services in some of the camps under UNHCR. Mary co-ordinated most Oxfam missions, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-019	Item - Jack Munro shaving. He was part of an Oxfam mission led by Katherine Pearson at the same time

	Meyer Brownstone was on a mission for the US Quakers and on which he reported in New York to a group of interested UN ambassadors. Munro was a prominent trade unionist in British Columbia. He typifies the diversity in composition of the Oxfam missions engaging various sectors of civil society in Canada who were interested in an advocacy role on behalf of the refugees. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985
MBOI-4-5-MBS-020	Item - Joe Reid Conservative MP in the same interview as in 016. Honduras, ca. 1985

MBOI-4-5-MBS-036	Item - Dan heap on air strip. Colomancagua, Honduras, 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-037	Item - Baking ovens. Traditional ovens fueled by wood harvested by refugees. Mesa Grande, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-038	Item - Cooking Pan (Bread). Mesa Grande, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-039	Item - Recently arrived refugee telling her story. Most missions were able to take testimonies from recent arrivals who told their own stories and conditions in El Salvador. Mesa Grande, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-040	Item - Forced removal of refugees from La Virtud to relocation at (M). Note the hoes being saved by a refugee. This relocation was part of the US, El Salvador, Honduras scheme to clear the border area and militarize it as an alleged barrier against the FLMN and the Sandinista government in Nicaragua. There was a failed attempt to relocate both Colomancagua and Mesa Grande which generated strong opposition from the refugees who feared being removed further from home. The UNHCR played a very dubious role in this scheme and earned the hostility of the refugees and protests to Geneva. Honduras, ca. 1985
MBOI-4-5-MBS-041	Item - Community gathering to meet mission. Mesa Grande, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-042	Item - Community. La Virtud, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-043	Item - Carpas (Tents) these were the standard residences - always overcrowded. Wooden structures were later built in. La Virtud, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-044	Item - A general view. La Vritud, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-045	Item - An elder looking towards El Salvador. He told Meyer Brownstone that he sat here every evening thinking about the past and about his return - he had never lost hope. Grande Mesa, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-046	Item - General view of typical harsh terrain-barren, treeless. Much less productive than La Virtud or Colomancagua. Mesa Grande, Honduras, ca. 1985
MBOI-4-5-MBS-047	Item - Families. Colomancagua, Honduras, 1985.

MBOI-4-5-MBS-048	Item - Families. There were many young mothers in the camps. Some fathers were FMLN fighters who came to the camps for rest and for treatment of wounds. (Clandestinely) There was evidence of international health workers crossing the border to attend to the sick and wounded in El Salvador. At least one doctor with Medecins Sans Frontieres was murdered after being denounced by an informer in the camp. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985
MBOI-4-5-MBS-049	Item - General view. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-050	Item - Dutch nurse placing makeshift flour and newspaper cast on Meyer Brownstone who injured his ankle while jumping into a ditch escaping random gunfire in an attack on the camp by Guatemalan troops. El Tesoro, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-051	Item - View of one of the villages or sub-camps. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-052	Item - Mass conducted by Dan Heap, an Anglican priest and Greg Chisholm, a Catholic priest. This was a rare occasion for the refugees who were a deeply religious people (Catholics) whose main religious service came from Delegados de la Palabra (delegates of the word) who were not priests but equivalent to "brothers" who could not conduct important service procedures. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-053	Item - Waiting for our arrival with gardens in the background. Gardens were very productive and had river water available for irrigation. La Virtud, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-054	Item - Dutch nurse and patients. El Tesoro, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-055	Item - Dutch with Martin Barber and Mary Contier. El Tesoro, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-056	Item - Dan Heap and Greg Chisholm conducting Mass at La Vritud. Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-057	Item - Local Band and choir. Music was very important in the camps and could be provided by musicians playing string instruments which were "home built". The songs were a mixture of traditional and songs describing both the sufferings as refugees and the hopes for freedom and return. Along with children's drawings of their traumatic experiences and artisanal work of a wide variety these served to retain cultural values and expression and produce messages for international missions of supporters such as Oxfam. La Virtud, Honduras, ca. 1985.

MBOI-4-5-MBS-058	Item - One of series of photographs of photographs taken of FMLN activities in El Salvador. Honduras, ca. 1985
MBOI-4-5-MBS-059	Item - Family portrait. Such portraits were rare since there was a significant absence of males, particularly young males who were fighting in El Salvador. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-060	Item - Campamentos from above. Note the relatively green terrain including trees which was in stark contrast to the barren terrain of Mesa Grande. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-061	Item - Father of priest murdered in El Salvador. He and his wife then became refugees since they were no longer safe in El Salvador. This sort of situation was not uncommon many refugees had fled because they were marked people since other family members had been identified as "the enemy". Colomancagua Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-062	Item - This image illustrate the demography of the camps and in particular the prominence of children and young teens. As teens grew older some went back to El Salvador to join the FMLN and the civil war. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-063	Item - Meyer Brownstone and one of the master potters. The gift remains in his possession. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-064	Item - Bruce Cockburn et al having a refreshment. Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-065	Item - General view with very productive gardens in the background. The Salvadorans were excellent farmers as was confirmed when Meyer Brownstone worked with refugees in Nicaragua on land allocated by the Nicaraguan government. La Virtud, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-066	Item - School in the camp. Seats were rocks. There were few supplies for teachers and pupils such as paper, pencils, blackboards, chalk etc etc. Most Oxfam missions brought basic supplies which were put to work immediately. Colomancagua , Honduras, ca. 1985.

MBOI-4-5-MBS-067	Item - Waiting for a very special concert featuring Bruce Cockburn and the camp band. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985
MBOI-4-5-MBS-068	Item - An overwhelming reception for the mission with the refugees lining the roadway to the concert venue. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985
MBOI-4-5-MBS-069	Item - Family Portrait. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-070	Item - This is a beautiful child with whom Meyer Brownstone played. On his next visit shortly later he tried to find the child but no one could tell me where she was until, finally, someone took pity on me and told me that the child had died of dysentery shortly after my visit. He was devastated by her death which illustrated the lack of health workers in the camps and the failure to educate the refugees in the treatment of dysentery. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-071	Item - Three little maids. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-072	Item - Meyer Brownstone. Colomancagua , Honduras, ca. 1985
MBOI-4-5-MBS-073	Item - The image is a witness to International Committee of Voluntary Agencies in Colomancagua. Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-074	Item - Toy making and play objects were both an important testimony to the skills of the refugees and a contribution to childrens activities. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985
MBOI-4-5-MBS-075	Item - Scooter. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-076	Item - Hospital built by the refugees. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1982
MBOI-4-5-MBS-077	Item - Refreshment break. The roads to camps were very rough and the temperature high so that these stops were welcomed. Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-078	Item - Toys. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-079	Item - Toys. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-080	Item - Poultry production. Poultry was a prime source of proteins for the refugees. One of the projects funded in part by Oxfam Canada. Both La Virtud and Colomancagua were self sufficient in proteins. La Virtud, Honduras, ca. 1985.

MBOI-4-5-MBS-081	Item - Hundreds of people lining a dirt road, perhaps to watch a procession. Honduras, ca. 1985
MBOI-4-5-MBS-082	Item - A victim testifying. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-083	Item - Toys. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-084	Item - Typically the men lift the tubs and other containers but the women do all the carrying-the more difficult part of the water supply system. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985
MBOI-4-5-MBS-085	Item - Poultry building and garden. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-086	Item - Burnishing pots- young trainees. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-087	Item - Four girls sitting at a desk, with books in front of them. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-088	Item - Unidentified girl in a dress with needle and thread embroidering a cloth. Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-089	Item - Poultry- white leghorn species- good egg producer. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-090	Item - School. La Virtud, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-091	Item - Garden and kitchen alongside- from garden to kitchen=super fresh. La Virtud, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-092	Item - Sewing was another workshop activity involving two generations of women. Meyer Brownstone has some samples in his position, some of which portray the situation which refugees found themselves, some have messages to the international community. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-093	Item - Grinding corn or tortillas using maize grown on camp gardens. La Virtud, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-094	Item - Laundry. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-095	Item - The camp master potter - Meyer Brownstone has a sample of her artistic work but most of her work was of the functional sort and used in the camp. La Virtud, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-096	Item - More embroidery work by young people. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-097	Item - Typical Honduran village. Reminiscent of traditional Quebec village with the prominence of the church as a dominant institution. Honduras, ca. 1985.

MBOI-4-5-MBS-098	Item - View of a small refugee camp on a plateau in an arid and cleared landscape. Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-099	Item - Listening to our tape deck. In general children were the focus of much attention from the various missions. Many were traumatized by the flight from El Salvador when refugees were attacked by the Salvador military and children were carried on the backs of Adults as they crossed the two rivers Lempa and Supul into Honduras while harassed and shot at by helicopters. But they responded to the friendliness, playfulness and small gifts from the mission members some of whom had a natural affinity to children e.g Father Greg Chisholm. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-100	Item - Lots of babies and young mothers. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-101	Item - Unidentified man with two children in front of rose bushes and a red brick wall. Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-102	Item - Young mothers. Mesa Grande, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-103	Item - Young baby sitter. Many mothers were busy with multiple tasks-carrying water, washing clothes, preparing food , growing food, working in workshops. Young children were important in tasks that could be delegated by mothers. Mesa Grande, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-104	Item - Health poster. There were many of these which were very explicit in their messages and drawings since there was a high level of illiteracy. This poster is quite adamant-breast feeding only no bottles ever. Colomancagua, Hondruas, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-105	Item - A beautiful child-one of many. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-106	Item - An elder singing about freedom and return-He sang whenever Meyer Brownstone visited. He was important for vocalizing the problems of the refugees, messages to the outside world and the traditional culture. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-107	Item - Some infra structure work in Colomancagua village. Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-108	Item - Another health poster-this on comparing a healthy child with an unhealthy child using key indicators both physical and emotional. Colomancagua, Hondurars, ca. 1985.

MBOI-4-5-MBS-109	Item - FMLN training in El Salvador.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-110	Item - Road block. These were unusual in mission experience and this one did not result in any difficulties. Honduras, ca. 1985.
MBOI-4-5-MBS-111	Item - Joyce Dilling an American working as a teacher in Mesa Grande. In this image she is interviewing a recent arrival and her daughter. Joyce wrote an excellent book based on her experiences "In Search Of Refuge". Her stay in Mesa Grande was interrupted by illness and she was obliged to return home but reappeared as a peace worker in the Contra war in Nicaragua. Her book is more generally on the general refugee history with some emphasis on Mesa Grande. Honduras, ca. 1985
MBOI-4-5-MBS-112	Item - This child is an example of the poor health services in Mesa Grande at least in its early stages. Honduras, ca. 1985.

We were driving down a road in camp and came by a refuge carrying large tree. Jack and Meyer Brownstone offered to carry it but to our astonishment could not manage and the very small Salvadoran picked it up and proceed down the hill.

	A second example was Jack taking a picture within the camp and a small teenage soldier stuck his rifle into Jack's stomach and told him to put it down or he would shoot-Jack did not understand Spanish and shouted : "put thatthing down you little!" Meyer Brownstone quickly intervened and told Jack he was about be shot and pacified the soldier by explaining that Jack had not understood the rules. Brownstone then explained to jck that these boy soldiers were trained to shoot anyone who disobeyed orders. Colomancagua, Honduras, ca. 1985

MBOI-4-7-MBP-218	Item - Canadian RCMP- part of the UN mission responsibilities was to assure security for the electoral process and peaceful withdrawal of South African troops from Namibia and from their engagement in the civil war in Angola. Thus, the UN brought in soldiers, police, electoral experts and others to manage its various tasks. In general the retreat was without incident or as remarked by a Canadian soldier: "boring". To keep busy a group of Canadian soldiers organized a mechanics workshop for Namibians.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-219	Item - UN official at voting. UN official-with an armband is supervising the South African official who is administering the process.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-220	Item - UN and South African officials at voting: sharing a voters list.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-221	Item - UN soldiers on guard at the Windhoek airport.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-224	Item - UN contracted heavy air transport.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-225	Item - Heavily protect UN compound.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-226	Item - UN and South African official at voting- ballot boxes were redundant Canadian metal ballot boxes contributed by Canada.

MBOI-4-7-MBP-252	Item - Brownstone and Paul Puritt (Canadian Labour Congress and former Oxfam staff) inside Angola- illegally but photographed by a border guard!
MBOI-4-7-MBP-253	Item - Shirley Carr Head of Canadian Labour Congress and Meyer Brownstone meeting Lutheran Bishop Dumeni in the North of Namibia. He was supportive of Namibian independence and an excellent source of historical and current information. He was also a leading member of the Council of Churches of Namibia which was the Namibian host of the Canadian mission.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-254	Item - SWAPO with a number of candidates.

MBOI-4-7-MBP-255	Item - SWAPO rally in Damaraland- the speaker is Theo-Ben Guribab, SWAPO Secretary for Foreign Affairs.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-256	Item - SWAPO regional headquarters. Judging from their facilities SWAPO seemed well funded and certainly received help from the ANC. However, its main rival, DTA, was far better funded and had access to intimidating South African police and military.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-257	Item - Entertainment at the rally.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-258	Item - An elegant politician- probably security staff.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-259	Item - Portrait of an artist, a glimpse of Namibian culture. An artist in his studio.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-260	Item - The wonderful work of a Namibian artist.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-261	Item - Another fine piece of Namibian artwork.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-262	Item - Another fine piece of Namibian artwork.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-263	Item - Two more pieces of artwork. All of these superb pieces evoke the agony of the victims of apartheid and brutal racism. This artist had the same impact on Brownstone as the works of Picasso (Guernica) and Goya
MBOI-4-7-MBP-264	Item - A different form of artistry, this time function- beautiful and creatively displayed.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-265	Item - Waiting patiently to vote for the first time in their lives.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-266	Item - Long, long lines in a large polling station with only two polls.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-267	Item - Being driven to the polls.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-268	Item - DTA supporters in the north,
MBOI-4-7-MBP-269	Item - Tribal women in the Norm (Name?)- a very novel experience.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-270	Item - Tribal women who kept very close to each other in a very strange environment.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-271	Item - Assisting challenged and determined women.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-272	Item - Close up of tribal women.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-273	Item - Close up of tribal women.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-274	Item - SWAPO regional office in the North West
MBOI-4-7-MBP-275	Item - Long line of voters waiting for hours in 45 degree Celsius temperatures.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-276	Item - Typical of the determination of Namibians to vote. A poll in the North. For the mission these were very moving moments.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-277	Item - Challenged women being assisted by an election official.

MBOI-4-7-MBP-278	Item - Herero women and child.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-279	Item - Katutura township, a Windhoek "suburb"

MBOI-4-7-MBP-288	Item - More dunes.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-289	Item - Dunes and desert.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-290	Item - Meyer Brownstone with mission interviewing Sam Nujoma- Head of SWAPO.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-291	Item - Toivo Y toivo one of SWAPO's major figures.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-292	Item - Exuberant young people celebrating.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-293	Item - Japan delegate and Brownstone together with a UN staff person.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-294	Item - Japan delegate and Brownstone.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-295	Item - Brownstone and Dr. Libertine Amathila SWAPO Health Secretary.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-222	Item - UN officials, UN armoured vehicle in the background. The UN was very well equipped given the impressive military hardware of South Africa in the region and in bordering Angola.
MBOI-4-7-MBP-247	Item - Left Iona Campagnola- a former Liberal Cabinet Minister, right Johanna Ooisterveld, Oxfam Canada National Board and three Namibian political and NGO leaders. Many project possibilities were discussed as part of the mission's work. (Oxfam Canada already had a number of projects in the country)
MBOI-4-8	File - Namibia Slides	1986-1994	C-216
MBOI-4-8-MBS-343	Item - Untitled
MBOI-4-8-MBS-344	Item - UN secretary general Javier Perez de Cueller with heavy security. He was able to witness at least one stage of one of the most successful UN operations on record.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-345	Item - UN electoral security staff.

MBOI-4-8-MBS-346	Item - As indicated by this armoured vehicle the UN was well equipped for potential (and some actual) violence.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-347	Item - On patrol.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-348	Item - Equipment in Windhoek awaiting dispersal particularly to trouble spots in the North.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-349	Item - Aircraft used for security patrols and to transport staff and equipment.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-350	Item - Matti Ahtisshari- the UN special representative (of the UN secretary-General), later to become the President of Finland. He was a superb head of the UN mission and very welcoming and open with the Canadian mission. In this slide he is speaking with MS Kinnock whose husband was head of the British Labour Party and she was a member of the European Parliament. Meyer Brownstone met with her at the Windhoek airport.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-351	Item - See MBS-349.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-352	Item - On patrol
MBOI-4-8-MBS-353	Item - Armoured vehicles. The mission received many reports of ongoing violence and intimidation during this period largely by Koevoet, the South African security police.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-354	Item - UN police.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-355	Item - Centre-Louis Piennar, the South African Administre General (A.G.) and Ahtisshari;s "counterpart". He was in fact in total control of what was the South West Africa colony of South Africa. An extremely disciplined and organized bureaucrat/politician ideal for an authoritarian regime. But given UN motion 435 he carried out UN requirements very well. Brownstone's last sight of Mr. Piennar was in the South African Parliament where he sat at the end of the front benches of the then ruling National Party, stripped of his powers and looking somewhat out of place in a parliamentary setting.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-356	Item - Electoral education- graphic material essential as a popular vehicle given significant illiteracy.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-357	Item - D.T.A. (Democratic Trunhalle Alliance party) media centre. This was the main opposition to SWAPO and heavily supported by the white population and from South Africa.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-358	Item - Farmstead and garden in the North- indigenous farms were typically small. Mixed, labour intensive, and productive.

MBOI-4-8-MBS-359	Item - Rural transport.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-360	Item - Destroyed health clinic- note the very limited hours when it was operating.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-361	Item - UN road block in the North with barricaded tent.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-362	Item - Typical small hills rising out of flat plains.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-363	Item - Farmstead with protective natural fence against animals surrounded by garden.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-364	Item - Katatura Township- a Windhoek apartheid suburb as in South Africa.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-365	Item - A safe-sex poster.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-366	Item - Give the land back to the people- Namibia National Front party one of the prominent of many parties although only ten contested the election.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-367	Item - Brick factory- an Oxfam supported project.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-368	Item - Millet harvest.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-369	Item - A superb young potter at work in Windhoek- studio supported by Oxfam.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-370	Item - Winhoek potter.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-371	Item - Handicraft market.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-372	Item - Kindergarten project supported by Oxfam

MBOI-4-8-MBS-375	Item - Windhoek Airport.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-376	Item - Sam Cohen Library- Swakopmund. Just across the street from a shop selling Nazi souvenirs- what an irony but another heritage of a more recent vintage.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-377	Item - Roadblock (see MBS-361)
MBOI-4-8-MBS-378	Item - Kids with homemade toys
MBOI-4-8-MBS-379	Item - SWAPO rally at Usakos. Man in leather cap i Theo Ben Gurebab then SWAPO Secretary for Foreign Affairs (i.e. the future Minister)
MBOI-4-8-MBS-380	Item - SWAPO rally (see previous slide)
MBOI-4-8-MBS-381	Item - Dancers at the rally.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-382	Item - Close up of dancers
MBOI-4-8-MBS-383	Item - Part of the large crowd.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-384	Item - Solidarity!
MBOI-4-8-MBS-385	Item - Gurebab at his forceful best!
MBOI-4-8-MBS-386	Item - SWAPO local office at Usakos.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-387	Item - Rally with crowd joining dancers.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-388	Item - Paul Puritt, mission member observing proceedings.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-389	Item - Township housing with fuel.

MBOI-4-8-MBS-390	Item - Meat drying traditional preserving method (no freezers or fridges)
MBOI-4-8-MBS-391	Item - "Men (sic) of the people."
MBOI-4-8-MBS-392	Item - Poster: No Koevoet (South African police), No Casspirs (South African intimidating armoured vehicle), No Apartheid.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-393	Item - Poster: Koevoet Out! Casspirs Out! Breyer, Visser, Peinaar (South African administrators) Out!
MBOI-4-8-MBS-394	Item - Poster: People's Demand is God's Will, Remove Koevoet from Police, from Justice and Peace!
MBOI-4-8-MBS-395	Item - Women were very active in the SWAPO campaign.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-396	Item - Returnees camp- reminiscent of Honduras but with far better facilities and freedom of movement.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-397	Item - Returnees camp (see previous slide)
MBOI-4-8-MBS-398	Item - Kids in camp most born in exile.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-400	Item - As usual children managed to keep happy despite impermanence of residence.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-401	Item - Orderly array of washrooms with attention paid to sanitary requirements.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-402	Item - Children at play.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-403	Item - Male washrooms.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-404	Item - Washing
MBOI-4-8-MBS-405	Item - Football field in background- part of camp facilities.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-407	Item - New arrivals and luggage.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-408	Item - "Welcome back home"
MBOI-4-8-MBS-409	Item - General view of camp and housing
MBOI-4-8-MBS-410	Item - Pots and cans- cooking and storage vesels.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-411	Item - Coming home.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-412	Item - Housing.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-414	Item - Grandmother and children.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-415	Item - Dancing- mothers and kids- CBC crew on the left. The mothers invited Brownstone to join the dance which he did and this was filmed by the CBC. However very soon after the Berlin wall fell, the CBC crew left in the middle of an interview with Brownstone and both film and interview disappeared.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-416	Item - House and family- note construction.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-417	Item - San Grandfather. The physique and skin quality are typical of a desert people who cover countless miles on foot, walking and running, in great heat with limited water.

MBOI-4-8-MBS-418	Item - Brownstone at SAN artifacts shop in Windhoek with SAN bow- Oxfam supported project.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-419	Item - SAN grandmother, child, and CBC journalist.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-420	Item - Grandmother, child, and CBC journalist.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-421	Item - General view of the village.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-422	Item - Mother and children at play.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-424	Item - Clyde Sanger and a South African armoured vehicle.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-425	Item - Clyde Sanger and an election worker.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-426	Item - Clyde Sanger, David, Beer, Shirley Carr (centre) Flora Macdonald.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-427	Item - Clyde Sanger and Wendy Viall (Oxfam UK)
MBOI-4-8-MBS-428	Item - Flora Macdonald, Clyde Sanger and UN workers.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-429	Item - Flora Macdonald and Clyde Sanger lunching in unison.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-430	Item - Flora Macdonald in a northern village investigating security conditions in the area.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-431	Item - UK Staff person.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-432	Item - Clyde Sanger and Flora Macdonald at the Oxfam supported brick factory.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-433	Item - Shirley Carr, Namibian women's movement representative, Flora Macdonald.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-434	Item - Waiting to vote- a too typical experience but voters persisted.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-435	Item - SWAPO getting out the vote.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-436	Item - Herero women in tribal dress leaving the poll. For Hereros voting was particularly significant since they had suffered a horrible massacre at the hands of the Germans.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-437	Item - UN staff preparing for the count in Windhoek. Centralized counting was a source of some controversy.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-438	Item - Long line- small polling station a defect of the voting facilities.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-439	Item - Tribal (Nama) male and tribal women in the backgroun at poll entrance- everyone turned out even the isolated tribal groups some of whom were bused in by the D.T.A.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-440	Item - A Canadian UN election official. At least two Canadian Chief Electoral Officers, British Columbia and Ontario played major roles in the UN administration. Both Oxfam Canada and Canadian Electoral official enjoyed a respected status at this and other elections on the basis of performance and the electoral process in Canada although most elections monitored were based on proportional legislation and rarely on first past the post. (We might note that the present planned Fair Vote Act if implemented will reduce Canada's credibility significantly).

MBOI-4-8-MBS-449	Item - Mission rented aircraft essential in a large country with very limited roads and other transport such as railways.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-450	Item - Mission aircraft and Oxfam staff person in Windhoek.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-451	Item - Mission departing for northern tour.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-452	Item - Linda Freeman
MBOI-4-8-MBS-453	Item - Gerald Caplan, Linda Freeman and Toivu Y Toivu (SWAPO Leader). He was questioned closely by the Mission on the alleged killing and torture of SWAPO members in exile accused of various "crimes against the organization." This was later taken up with Sam Nujoma, head of SWAPO. (John Saul and Colin Leys later wrote a book on this incident).
MBOI-4-8-MBS-454	Item - David Vickers and UN military
MBOI-4-8-MBS-456	Item - Johanna Oosterveld and leader of the Namibian women's movement and important partner of Oxfam Canada and a major political force.
MBOI-4-8-MBS-457	Item - Toivu Y toivu and Linda Freeman
MBOI-4-8-MBS-458	Item - Linda Freeman
MBOI-4-8-MBS-459	Item - Johanna Oosterveld and one of the members of the Japanese delegation.

MBOI-4-12-MBS-289	Item - Army showing typical "energy". This part of a scenario in which the pro-apartheid political forces supported the IFP led by their candidate Buthelezi. In our pre-election mission to Natal we visited Buthelezi and were invited to a lunch at which the guests were leaders of the most conservative white pro-apartheid groups. We had not anticipate staying for lunch and our aircraft was ready to leave but Buthelezi seized the opportunity to show-off" off his distinguished visitors from Canada, i.e. Broadbent, Macdonald and campagnola all prominent parliamentarians and leaders in their parties. (However, at the meeting with him Buthelezi followed protocol allowing only Brownstone as head of mission to sit close to him!!!)
